

Name (optional):

Job Title (or the capacity in which you use Dyalog APL):

In the following table, please indicate:

- the frequency with which you refer to each of the documents in the documentation set
- how useful you find each document that you've referred to on a scale of 1 (not at all) to 10 (couldn't live without it)
- the format(s) in which you'd like each document to be produced in the future (for example, pdf, online help (.CHM), printable manual, eBook, web/wiki pages)

	Frequency of Use					Usefulness	Ideal format?

Windows
DEB-based Linux
RPB-based Linux
AIX

Are you aware that the current release's documentation set is regularly updated?

If so, do you ever download updated versions of the documents?

Are you aware that we produce some of the documentation in two styles of pdf, one for reading on-screen (with coloured text and equal page margins) and one for printing (with monochrome text and left-/right-hand pages)?

Do you make use of both these formats? If no, please specify which you use.

Please add your own comments on Dyalog's documentation below. For example, what additional information would you like to see included in the documentation set? Could some of the information be presented in a more user-friendly way? Would the documentation benefit from the additional of less formal function definitions? Are there sufficient examples in the current documentation set? Is it easy to report errors/omissions? Does the look/layout/template of the pdfs bother you? Is it useful to have an index in a pdf?

Thank-you very much for taking the time to complete this. Please put your completed surveys on the Dyalog reception desk or hand them to any of the Dyalog staff. I'll take all responses into consideration when determining the direction that the documentation should take for Dyalog APL 14.0 onwards. If you have any further suggestions/constructive criticisms then please send them to fiona@dyalog.com. Thanks. Fiona (Documentation Manager)
